HOWARD OF GEORGIA WANTS THOROUGH PROBE IN POSTOFFICE AFFAIRS

Has Been Active of Late Proposing Inquiries Into Various Branches of Government Service—Now Demands a Comprehensive Investigation of Postoffice Department.

EFFICIENCY HAS BEEN REDUCED

Declares Hitchcock Maintains Spy
System Which Has Demoralized
Railway Mail Service—Charges
That Postmaster General Violates Congressional Orders and Refuses to Spend Appropriations For Rural Delivery System.

Washington, April 19.—Senator Charles Howard of Georgia, who has been active of late in proposing inquiries into various branches of the government service, presented a resolution calling for a comprehensive investigation of the postoffice department.

In the resolution Mr. Howard declares that there have been many charges of inefficiency and violations of congressional enactments made against the postmaster general, and therefore he wants the committee to inquire into the conduct of the department to ascertain if the "un-American" practice of intimidation of postal employees exists; if the employees of the railway mail service have been denied the right to organize; if the number of postoffice inspectors has been increased during the last 16 years; if unnecessary surveillance over postal clerks is being employed to the demoralization of the force; and whether the department is crippling the rural free delivery service by declining to use money appropriated by congress for the retention of rural routes.

Glasscock issued a proclamation calling a special session of the legislature for May 16 to pass an act for the holding of primaries for the nomination by political parties for all state and county offices, including United States senators; and also to provide for the selection of political party committees and holding political conventions, to amend the corrupt practices act and pass adequate laws for punishment of all persons convicted of bribery in any form in connection with elections.

James Boyle, who was President McKinley's private secretary, and Hon. Horace Newton Allen of Toledo, late minister to Korea.

FORMER SENATOR HELD

Littlefield Charged With Causing Death of Mother.

Newport, R. I., April 19.—Former State Senator Frank Littlefield of Block Island, R. I., was arraigned in the district court on a warrant charging him with the murder of his mother, Mrs. Ann Elizabeth Littlefield. He entered a plea of not guilty and is being held without bail to await the action of the grand jury.

Mrs. Littlefield was found at the foot of the cellar stairs last Tuesday morning. Her neck had been broken and there were wounds on the head. The theory was that the aged woman had fallen down stairs.

Killing Girl.

Freehold, N. J., April 19.—The jury in the case of Frank E. Heidemann, on trial for the murder of Marie Smith, 10, at Asbury Park, Nev. 9, returned a verdict of murder in the first degree after a deliberation of one hour and 45 minutes.

Justice Willard P. Voorhees sentenced Heidemann to the electric chair at Trenton in the week beginning May 22. Heidemann was barely able to support himself on his feet. He leaned heavily on both hands on the table and with bowed head wept bitterly when sentence was imposed.

GOOD ROADS BILL PASSED BY THE SENATE FARMERS CARRY DAY

*City Members Outvoted in Upper Branch of Legislaprovement Fund Created by Levy of One-half of a Mill on the Grand Tax Duplicate.

Hudson's Bill.*

WILL PROVIDE $6,000,000

Several Wet Members of House Express Themselves as Heartily Sick of Liquor Legislation—Desperate Attempt Will Be Made to Knock Out Amendment in Green Bill Providing For Elimination of Temperance Question.

Columbus, O., April 19.—Rural senators lined up against the city members in the upper branch of the general assembly and passed the Hudson bill creating a state highway improvement fund by providing for a levy of one-half of a mill on the grand tax duplicate of the state, raising approximately $2,000,000 annually, and to be apportioned among the 88 counties of the state.

If the measure goes through the house and all counties respond, a total fund of $6,000,000 will be available for construction, maintenance, improvement and repair of roads.
Senator Stockwell of Cuyahoga county made an unsuccessful effort to strike out the provision that the proceeds of the state levy are to be divided equally among the counties.
He said Cuyahoga would raise one-tenth of the total and receive in return only one eighty-eighth.

The Greeves Sunday baseball bills are now up to the governor for final approval or veto. The house concurred in the amendments made by the senate.

Wet and dry questions have assumed proportions in the general assembly, with the drys scoring most of the points. In the first place the chairman of the temperance committee, Smith Welsh of Ottawa, who has been a wet, turned on the question of reporting out the Dean saloon limitation bill and the Lorenz bill to allow brewers and wholesalers in dry counties to sell to residences in their counties liquor in one-gallon quantities, and the meeting of the committee was called off.

Dry For This Session.

"I am a dry so far as reporting any more liquor legislation out," was the way Mr. Welsh expressed it.

Mr. Hillenkamp of Lucas was another wet member of the committee to turn. He declared himself as against reporting out any further liquor legislation. "It's useless to do it," he said.

In the second place the indications pointed to the probability that the amendment to the Green constitutional convention bill providing for separate submission to the people of the question of whether or not the liquor traffic shall be licensed, may be stricken out in the house.

Wayne B. Wheeler of the Anti-Saloon league declared he would fight the amendment. He held it wasn't fair to submit the question of license or no license when no license now exists, and the result could benefit only one side. He declared that the drys might fight to have all liquor questions submitted, including statewide prohibition.

Mr. Wheeler made the further declaration that the wet and dry question would not be eliminated in the election of constitutional delegates and that the drys will fight to elect their delegates in every county in the state.

In the third place Representative Crosser, author of the initiative and referendum bill for cities, which it is said, the wets will seek to amend in the senate so as to allow cities to vote for saloons in dry counties, announced that the amendment probably would have the effect of killing the bill, since the L. & R. people, in his opinion, wouldn't stand for its incorporation in the measure.

Knock at Trading Stamps.

Columbus, O., April 19.—The cities committee of the house declared for the redemption in cash of all manner of trading stamps when it voted to amend the Gebhardt bill so as to incorporate such a provision. As introduced the bill was even more drastic, and sought to prevent altogether the issue of stamps. If the bill as amended goes through, it will compel sweeping changes in the operation of trading stamp companies, who now redeem in merchandise in which large profits are made.

Supplies Gone; Police Perish.

Dawson, Y. T., April 19.—The bodies of the mounted police who set out Dec. 22 from Fort McPherson for Dawson were found not far south of McPherson by the relief expedition which left Dawson Feb. 21. The men perished on the banks of the Peel river after their supplies had given out and they had eaten their dogs.

Madman Exterminates Family

Youngstown Man Completes Slaughter by Committing Suicide.

Youngstown, O., April 19.—Fear that he was going blind and would not be able to support his family, unbalanced the mind of Grant C. Rickert. As a result of his mental derangement Rickert, armed with an ax and revolver, killed his wife, four of his children and himself. The dead are:

Grant C. Rickert, 48; his wife, Celia, 42; his four children, Helen, 15; Charlotte, 11; Pearl, 10, and Raymond. His wife, Helen and Charlotte and himself he killed instantly; Pearl and Raymond died several hours later in the city hospital.

Forces Arrived Too Late for Rebels

*Galral's Scouts Find Aqua Prieta in Hand of Fed-

Condition Proves That Raking Fire of Federals Had Been More Effective Than Rebels Admitted.

RETREAT UNDER HEAVY FIRE

President Diaz Promises to Restrict Fighting on Border, and Congress
Is Willing to Trust President Taft With Solution of Knotty Diplomatic Problem—Uncle Sam Has Nice Assessment of Insurrectos to Feed Until Peace Is Restored.

Douglas, Ariz., April 19.—From the appearance of Agua Prieta's streets when the federals entered, after the rebels had silently stolen out, it was shown that the raking fire poured into the town had been more effective than the rebels admitted. Fifty bodies were lying in the streets, buildings were perforated and many adobe residences were sheltering wounded noncombatants.

Colonel Renald Diaz, in command of Agua Prieta, the first taking placed a strong patrol of Yaqui Indians along the international line. They have orders to permit no one to pass.
The American troops are patrolling this side and have the same orders.
The line is effectually blockaded.

It is now said that Belisario Garcia, the highest officer in command of the insurrectos, instead of over 1,000 had less than 500 men to hold the town against 1,200 federals. He expected Juan Cabral with reinforcements from the southwest and Madame Talamantes with 300 men from the south. Deserters said Garcia received a report from a scout who got through the federal lines that Cabral's force had encountered federals, supposedly under Colonel Chiapas, in the Ajo mountains, southwest of here, and had been cut to pieces. Madame Talamantes, "the Joan of Arc of the revolution," never got within sight, and the whereabouts of her force is unknown, if it exists.
When this was learned by Garcia, the rebel leaders held a council and differences arose which resulted in Garcia, commander-in-chief, crossing the line unarmed and surrendering.

Deserters Reach Douglas.
All night long rebel deserters straggled into Douglas without arms, and some gave themselves up to the American soldiers. General Garcia was one of the first to surrender.
With the commander-in-chief gone,
the garrison became demoralized.
"Red" Lopez, another commander, went to Douglas, but did not surrender, except to liquor.

Reaching the Nacozari railroad station before they discovered Agua Prieta was in the hands of the federals, scouts from Cabral's command, numbering several hundred rebels, turned and fled under the fire of the federals.

Federal troops chased the retreating scouts, firing fully 300 shots, before the advance guard of Cabral's force opened fire on them. The rebel advance guard then fell back on the main body, the federals returning to camp.

SUGGEST NEUTRAL ZONE

President Diaz Agrees to Restrict Activities on Border.

Washington, April 19.—The evacuation of Agua Prieta by the insurrectos and the resumption of federal control of the custom house there tended to relieve the tension in official circles. All are disposed to follow President Taft's lead in urging

BITTEN BY MAD DOG AL THORNTON AND SON, FRANK, TAKE PASTEUR TREATMENT

Dog Was a Family Pet and Bit the Son Last Week—Mr. Thornton Was Bitten Sunday—Distressing Occurrence Was Kept Quiet Until Last Night—No Bad Results Are Anticipated.

Bitten by a pet dog, which, it was later proven, was suffering from the rabies, Mr. Al Thornton, the coal dealer, and his 15-year-old son, Frank, were hurried to Columbus for Pasteur treatment yesterday evening on the 4:20 B. & O. train, being accompanied by the family physician, Dr. Roy Brown.

Mr. Thornton and his son were bitten by a pet dog several days ago, the wounds were thoroughly cauterized at once, but the incident was kept quiet until yesterday evening, when it became known that they had left for Columbus to be treated.

The little dog first showed symptoms of being sick last week, and while being petted by Frank, snapped him on the finger, inflicting a very small wound which healed up without causing any trouble.

The dog continued acting strangely until Sunday morning, at which time it bit on Mr. Thornton's hand. Believing that the animal might be suffering from the rabies, Mr. Thornton summoned Dr. Gribble, who took one look at the

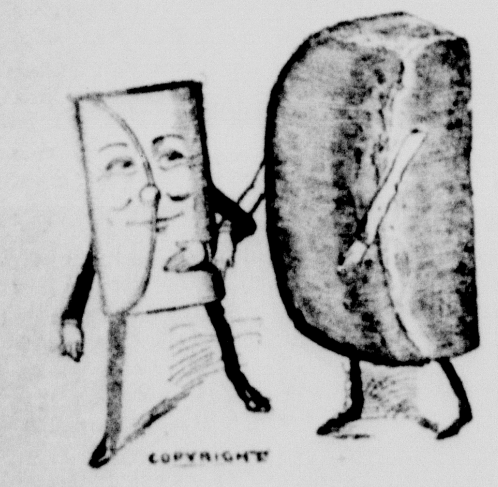

ANOTHER BOY BITTEN BY THE THORNTON DOG WILL BE TREATED HERE

As soon as it was decided to a certainty that the little house dog—a French poodle—which bit Mr. Al Thornton and his son, Frank, was suffering with rabies, Mrs. Thornton remembered that on Saturday last the dog had snapped at little 11-year-old Corey Stoltzenberg, while he was passing by the Thornton home.

Not knowing whether the dog had bitten the child or not she promptly sent word to the child's parents on Tuesday evening. An examination was made and the wounds—mere tiny punctures—made by the dog's teeth in the calf of the left leg were discovered.

The little fellow then told his story to the effect that he was passing the Thornton home and the little dog ran out to him growling. In passing the place frequently the little boy and the dog got to know each other, but on Saturday when the boy undertook to pet him the dog bit him in the left leg. He then sprang at his throat. Then the little fellow became frightened and kicked the dog away from him.

The Stoltzenberg boy was not taken to Columbus, but arrangements have been made with the state authorities to ship the virus and instruments here, and Dr. Roy E. Brown will administer treatment.

Logan Sues Pavey Estate

Tuesday Attorney John Logan brought suit against Charles C. Pavey and Mary Pavey, as executors of the last will of Madison Pavey, for a judgment of $177.45 with interest from February 8, 1910.

The suit grows out of a judgment of $146.43 and $11.02 costs, assessed against the Paveys by the Common Pleas court on February 12, 1910, in favor of C. H. Griffin, who had brought suit several years ago before Justice C. C. Bateman, was awarded judgment, and case was carried up and judgment again awarded. The judgment was assigned to Mr. Logan on March 7, 1910, and he now seeks recovery of the amount awarded Mr. Griffin by the Common Pleas court.

Elected Alternate To General Assembly

The annual spring meeting of Presbytery, held at the Presbyterian church in Bloomingburg Monday night and Tuesday, was well attended by the ministers and elders of the Chillicothe Presbytery.

The sessions were of marked interest, perhaps the climax of the meetings the discussion on the state of religion and its phases of work which followed the "narrative" derived from the general report.

The retiring moderator, Rev. Huggart, of Pisgah, presided.

Rev. W. Hamill Shields, the recently elected minister at Hillsboro, was chosen as the new moderator. Rev. Foreley Rohrer, pastor of the Greenfield church, was elected ministerial delegate to the General Assembly to be held in Atlantic City, N. Y. Mr. McCoy, of Frankfort, was the elder chosen as delegate with Mr. J. T. Tuttle, of this city, alternate.

Arrangements were made for the installation ceremonies of Hillsboro's new minister, Rev. Shields, on May the second.

Making the Cormorants Work.
The cormorants are among the most interesting and useful birds in the world. They are employed in the fishing industry of the coast of Scotland to a large extent. They are easily trained to work for their owners, who place a brass ring round each of their throats so as to prevent the birds swallowing. They naturally feed upon fish and soon learn to deposit what they catch in their owners' boats. They display remarkable cleverness in time, and a good fisher is worth a good deal of money to a fisherman.

Lottery Chances.
M. Henri Poincare, the mathematician, told us a few years ago that if every one who buys a lottery ticket knew how little chance there was of any one winning a prize there could be no successful lottery. The chance of each was about equal to the danger of being killed in a railway accident.—London Truth.

CHOOSING A PRESIDENT.

Early Methods That Paved the Way to National Conventions.
History records that George Washington was chosen president of the United States without first having been nominated and even without an opposing candidate. So was his successor in office, John Adams. In the language of the street the presidency was in the case of each of these distinguished natives handed to him on a silver platter. The president went as it were, unannounced to the founders of the republic, to whom, grateful people, almost for nothing, service and advice.

In the early days president choosing according to the primitive way, was a simple matter, to be sure, but it was a kindergarten exercise, besides, a course in four dimension mathematics, since then the changes, though small at first, have been marked and have led up to our present complicated convention nominations that make the electoral college but a mechanical device for registering the popular decision as between rival party organizations. It was the duke that almost installed Aaron Burr as president instead of Thomas Jefferson that forced the initial modifications of the plan of president choosing agreed upon by the framers of the constitution.

Originally members of the electoral college were to vote for two persons, the one receiving the highest number of votes to be president and the next highest to be vice president. The danger of a succession that would put the political lever each time from one side to the other made imperative the change by which the electors should vote for only one person for president and for another for vice president. Two or three object lessons, too, of irresponsible and haphazard action by the electoral college, throwing the choice of president to the house or of vice president to the senate, because no one had a majority of the votes cast, showed the necessity of centering the efforts of the newly aligned political parties each on a single presidential ticket and of imposing on the members of the electoral college a moral obligation to cast their ballots uniformly for the nominees of the party which had elected them.

The forerunner of our national nominating convention was the caucus or conference of members of congress of the same political faith who got together on their own initiative and without any mandate from their constituents assumed to advise as to who, in their judgment, was entitled to be recognized as the party standard bearer. This caucus must necessarily have proved to be too crude and unsatisfactory to serve long as the president choosing machinery. In such an assemblage only those states and districts represented in congress by members of one and the same political party had a voice, and all the others were left without representation. It was to remedy these defects and to enable the rank and file of the parties, wherever they might be, to exercise at least a nominal control of the presidential nomination that the national convention, meeting every four years, came to be evolved as we know it.—Victor Rosewater in American Review of Reviews.

THE FIRST ASTOR.

A Caring and Resourceful Operator in the Fur Trade.
John Jacob Astor was born in the little village of Waldorf, in Germany, in 1763, just as France at the close of the Seven Years' war was sending Canada to England. He sailed to our side of the Atlantic in 1783, when George III. in the treaty of Paris was acknowledging our independence and when the merchants of Montreal were establishing the Northwest company.

He became a fur dealer, gradually gained control of the trade south of Lakes Huron and Superior, except that which was in the hands of the Mackinaw company, and won a reputation as a daring and resourceful operator, which made his name known in Montreal, St. Louis, London and Canton.

He had a dozen vessels afloat, representing a capital of $1,000,000, carrying furs to England and China in 1800, and at the time that the purchase of Louisiana in 1803 pushed our boundary to the Rocky mountains he was the wealthiest and most successful merchant in the United States.—North American Review.

The Man of Leisure.
Most of our rich men work very hard—not always because they want to, but in many instances because they have to. The husbandry of a big estate in itself may be a task for the whole of the time and thought, not of one man, but of several. As a general thing it is fair to say that our only man of leisure is the tramp. The social pariah, the mutineer against the rule of work, is the only one who can be sure of a care free, sybaritic existence, and even he lives in constant danger of rock salt from the farmer's gun or the onslaught of the watchdog around the corner as the hobo knocks at the kitchen door or pauses at the water trough to drink. The poor tramp is certainly a more frequent social phenomenon than the rich one.—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE UPTOWN ALLEYS MOVE TO PAVE ALL OF THEM MAY BE COMPLETED THIS SEASON

Property Owners and Business Men Are Almost Unanimous in the Belief That it is Practically Impossible to Keep an Improved Alley in the Business Section in Sanitary Condition—No Strong Objection is Urged.

Since the plan of paving the court yard in the rear of the Parrett and Barnett groceries, and the alley leading from Fayette to North street past the court has come up, the feasibility of paving all alleys in the business district has been discussed and it has been found that practically all of the business men favor this action, inasmuch as the city pays half the cost.

Paving the alleys with brick has long been considered, but no definite action taken. It is agreed that the only proper and sanitary way of eliminating the filthy alley nuisance, is to first prepare the alleys so they can be kept clean, and so the filthy slush and mud will not be scattered over the sidewalks and streets by rips of all kinds which of a necessity must frequent the alleys to reach the rear of places of business.

In all cities where cleanliness and sanitation is the rule, the alleys are paved. This seems to have a decided effect upon the remainder of the city, for when the business district is kept clean, the "germs" of cleanliness spread to the outskirts, much the same as disease germs spread from filthy alleys when they are left for travel half of the time.

Every business man knows the disadvantages of handling goods which are usually received through the rear doors, and must come through the alleys. The odor arising from the conglomeration in the alleys is as injurious to health as it is repulsive to the sense of smell.

It is expected that within a short time a united effort will be made for paving all alleys in the business district—a thing that should have been done when the streets were paved. Before summer is over every alley paved to any great extent, and which is hard to keep clean, will probably be improved. For a long time the up-town alleys have been a disgrace to the city, and are in urgent need of repairs at the present time. Some idea of the value of paved alleys may be gleaned by inspecting the alley between Stinson's store and the Dahl-Millikan building. It is sanitary and easily kept clean, furnishes an easy roadway and is an ideal alley in every way.

Big Bazar Nets Ladies' Aid $1100

The Ladies Aid Society of the New Holland M. E. church, is deserving of a great deal of praise for their success in assisting in paying for the new church which will be dedicated Sunday. They held a bazar on the basement of the new church Saturday, and cleared over $1100 from that alone.

When a new church was talked of, the society pledged $1000 to be paid within three years. Then they set to work with a will. The first year of the three was up. Easter, and they had raised $900 of the $1000, with the additional $1100 and better resulting from Saturday's market, the ladies have doubled their pledge, and bid fair to triplicate it a long time before the three years have passed.

The Gate to Tibet.

Just outside Tachienlu is the stone bridge which is called "the gate to Tibet." Tachienlu is a narrow little city which had to conform its shape to the contour of the mountains which shut it in. There is hardly a foot of level ground within the walls. It is the great emporium of trade between China and Tibet, where the Chinese exchange tea for musk and gold dust. Many red frocked lamas are to be seen about the city, most of whom live in large lamaseries outside the walls. On the flat roofs of the houses flutter innumerable prayer flags, giving to the winds the universal Tibetan hymn of praise.

Pythian Sisters Entertain In Open Session

The K. of P. hall presented a brilliant scene Tuesday night, when the Pythian Sisters, ambitious auxiliary members of this prosperous lodge, entertained in open session.

About two hundred guests were present, including the Knights and Sisters and many eligibles to the order.

The evening was one of overflowing pleasure and impressed anew the ability of the ladies of Washington temple in the role of entertainers.

A splendid program was presented.

The High School, double quartet under Miss Sheen's direction, sang two exceedingly pretty numbers and responded to an encore.

Mr. H. E. Walcott, of the Washington Music Store, generously donated the new Edison Victrola "The Amberola," which provided delightful entertainment in music and readings.

District Deputy of the State of Ohio, Mrs. Lillian Howard, of Lancaster, made an eloquent talk on "Pythian Sisters and the Order." Two charming readings by Miss Vera Veal completed the program.

A feature of the evening that aroused enthusiasm to a high pitch was the public installation drill, put on by sixteen of the Pythian Sisters. It was a most beautiful fancy drill, the sisters all in white, with wands tied with the colors of the order, yellow, blue and red. Mrs. Anna Hardway as captain, did splendid work and maneuvers were perfectly executed by the finely trained squad.

Delicious refreshments and an hour of general sociability concluded the successful evening.

DEATHS

CREAMER.

Mr. Michael Conner Creamer, brother of Mrs. Mary Creamer Johnson, of this city, and Mrs. Jane Fellers of Chattanooga, Tenn., died at his home, the Creamer homestead, Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock aged about 82 years.

Funeral services will be announced later.

FUNERAL OF MR. ISAAC SNIDER.

The funeral services of Mr. Isaac Snider were largely attended at the home on Broadway Tuesday afternoon.

Rev. A. W. West, of the First Baptist church had charge of the services, assisted by Rev. Hostetler of the Christian church.

A quartet sang favorite hymns. The sympathy of many friends was shown to the family in most beautiful flowers. Acting as pall-bearers were the five sons—Albert, Walter, Orrian, Charles, Henry and son-in-law, Milton Flee.

Friends accompanied the family to the Washington cemetery for the burial.

Among those here from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peacock, Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. Arch Midgworth, Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. Will Cecil, Dayton; Mr. Curtis Carr, Branch Hill; Mr. John Abey, Morrow; Mr. James Fairchild, South Lebanon.

Mount Etna.

Mount Etna is one of the great volcanoes of the earth. It is great in size, great in activity, great in beauty. In size it would cover the entire metropolitan district of New York and the surrounding counties. Its height is 11,000 feet above sea level. As to its power, one of these eruptions some centuries ago killed 80,000 people, which is probably more than Vesuvius has ever done in all its existence as a volcano, not excepting the great eruption of 79 A. D., which destroyed the cities of Herculaneum and Pompeii. As to its beauty, this is also very difficult to describe. It is teeming with life, animal and vegetable, and is snow covered one-half the year. The other half it is bare to its very summit.—Christian Herald.

Love Finds Way at Last

This morning Miss Sylvia Basey, the 17-year-old young girl of near Good Hope, whom Wm. Roosa, 23, a farmer of Ross county, wished to secure a license to wed last Saturday, and who was refused because Miss Basey was under age, and had no one to give consent to her marriage, came to this city, had Harvey Brown appointed her guardian, secured Brown's consent and carried away a marriage license to wed Mr. Roosa, apparently very happy.

This only goes to prove the oft-repeated assertion that "love will find a way."

B. & O. BARS INTOXICANTS.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company has adopted and signified its intention to rigidly enforced, a rule which means much as a safeguard for the thousands of human beings who annually place their lives in the keeping of that great common carrier.

The new rule positively forbids all employees, whether on or off duty, using intoxicating liquors in any form.

In this day and age when the monster trains of this and other carrying companies are literally hurled through space in an effort to annihilate time and distance, every employee, from the highest to lowest, must have his wits about him.

He must have full possession of all his faculties, unclouded by the effects of intoxicants.

Every screw, every bolt and every spike must be in place—there can be no chance taken, no hap-hazard, taking it for granted, every man in charge of the train must be on the alert for signal lights read his orders quickly and understandingly. The amazing fast schedules now in use prevent consuming unnecessary time. It is a drive under whip and spur from division end to division end, and the use of stimulants in connection with the nervous strain is too much for the human body and brain.

For a long time the use of intoxicants, while on duty, has been forbidden by all the great railroad companies, but time and disaster has proven that the rule was not wide enough in its scope. The employee who habitually used intoxicants was either supplied with an over-dose to carry him through the period, when he was not permitted to imbibe, or else he was so dead mentally and physically that he could not move with that degree of speed and accuracy demanded by his employers and the traveling public.

In the first instance the risk of disaster was too great, and in the latter delayed trains and schedules shot to pieces resulted, and in either event loss to the company and annoyance delay and exceeding danger to the public.

The traveling public is insistent and exacting, demanding of the common carrier companies almost to the limit of possibility of fulfillment, failing to realize the peril or to appreciate it if realized. The companies must furnish faster trains and better accommodations, and to do this every man must be "at himself" every second of his time.

No stronger move toward safety of the restless traveling public could be made than the adoption and enforcement of this rule.

TALKS ON ADVERTISING.

No. 2. Mail Order vs. Home Trading.

By Henry Herbert Huff.

"Back again, Mr. Business Man?"

"Glad to see you. Have a chair. Do you know I'm anxious to learn how advertising is going to fix those mail order houses?"

"Pardon me, but I do not like your expression. The mail order house has as much right to do business as Brown, your competitor across the street. You cannot hope to have it exterminated by law, boycott or other unfair means. The only way to solve this problem is to meet its prices. You can do this on a cash basis, and that is the only sensible way to sell. Be so busy telling the public about your store, your goods and your prices that the mail order houses do not appear to trouble you in the least. Quote the mail order houses' prices beside yours to show that you mean business. Do not attack their integrity. They are not all frauds, as some merchants would represent them to be."

"But people should be loyal to their home merchants?"

"Very true, but this argument has been abused. Stories of the patron who got 'cheated' of the dollar that did so much in the community before it was sent away, the theory of paying taxes, etc., are all so weak or lacking in logic as to be an injury to our cause. If you are to pull customers from the catalogue houses, it will be with proof that you sell equally low, not by satire or abuse. They are to be won, not forced. Then, too, many merchants who are selling too high or are inexperienced and not in the least fitted for their business, dealers who gossip, are unfriendly and unaccommodating or who cheat or mistreat their patrons all claim the support of the community on the loyalty to home industries plea. To do so is to seek charity, not business. Even charity covers no such sins. Now, honestly, do you expect patronage merely because you are a merchant in this town?"

"What grounds, then, should I take in asking patronage?"

"Put it thus: 'You buy where you can buy cheapest, and I will do the same. Remember, when making comparisons with catalogue prices, to add something for transportation, the delay, the trouble and expense of ordering, and the like. If I can furnish you the goods equally low, considering these advantages, buy of me, because it will help to build up the town. That is all I ask.' To what one thing do the catalogue houses owe their growth?"

"I must confess it is good advertising."

"Yes; their whole existence is due to it. They cannot live without it. They are unnatural institutions—could never have started if local merchants had realized the possibilities of advertising. But it is not too late to use against them this very instrument that has been their making. And that is the only successful way to combat the mail order evil—advertise."

POETRY FOR TODAY

HANG ON

HANG ON! CHING ON! No matter what they say.
Push on! Sing on! Things will come your way.
Sitting down and whining never helps a bit;
Best way to get there is by keeping up your grit.

Don't give up hoping when the ship goes down;
Grab a spar or something, just refuse to drown.
Don't think you're dying just because you're hit,
Smile in face of danger and hang to your grit.

Foiks die too easy—they sort of fade away;
Make a little error, and give up in dismay.
Kind of man that's needed is the man of ready wit,
To laugh at pain and trouble and keep his grit.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

A Short Story.

[From the Lawyers' Magazine.]
Comes now Ignatz Waldo, who complains of Miss Lucrinda Smythe and declares that by reason of her grace, beauty and general loveliness he has lost his heart to her, wherefore he prays the said Miss Smythe that she take pity upon him and accede to his request, to wit—namely, that she join him in the bonds of holy wedlock.

Whereupon the hereinbefore mentioned Miss Smythe treats the complainant in a cruel and inhuman manner, in that she laughs scornfully at him as he rests on his knees before her and declares that she will never marry him because of a previous conviction in that she saw him kissing another girl at the railroad station on a day and date which she does not at the time recall to mind, all of which she swears is true to the best of her knowledge and belief.

In reply thereto the complainant prays for a writ of error and states that the aforesaid Miss Smythe was in error when she made the kissing of the girl at the railroad station a cause for action, inasmuch as the young lady in question was and is a sister to the party of the first part, and under the constitution of the United States and the rulings of the interstate commerce commission (Act 234-6) such kissing cannot be made the basis of a complaint for unjust discrimination by the fiancée of said kisser. Whereupon Miss Smythe reverses her decision and orders that, after being signed, sealed and delivered with a kiss, the marriage decree be duly and fully promulgated.—Puck

The Demand For Civility.

An irate old lady, the wife of a prosperous farmer on the outskirts of Philadelphia, stepped off a train in Broad street station the other day with a face like a thundercloud. Any one could see in that scowling countenance the smoldering fire that might break forth at any minute. Stamping excitedly on the platform, she gnashed her teeth in a struggle to keep back the tears. Finally she button-holed the first person who would listen to her tale of woe. "What's all this

GOOD POINTS

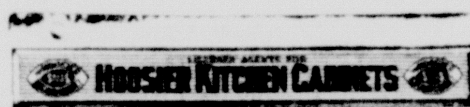

It is a real pleasure to point out the Good Points in Dale Furniture. And Good Points at Dale's does not mean the ordinary every day goodness that you may conclude. It means betterness.

Dale does not consider the plain, ordinary mediocre goodness of sufficient importance to designate. It is the extraordinary here that is pointed out as the Good Points. There are no bad points.

When Dale goes to the great manufacturing centers to buy furniture for this big store he analyzes every subject in pretty much the same manner that a chemist would. That is, everything is theoretically divided into parts and examined minutely. By this method bad points are eliminated until nothing reaches this store but the best of the best. Come and see.

SMOOTH RASCAL ARRESTED FOR BEATING BILLS USED LOCAL MAN'S NAME

Contracted Bills and Left Jess Backenstoe's Card With Men He Swindled. But Played Game Once Too Often and is Arrested in Greenfield—Smooth Swindler Behind Bars in Lancaster—Is Old Offender.

An arrest of importance was made in Greenfield last week, when a man sailing under the name of Tyson was placed under arrest and sent to Lancaster where he skipped a livery bill, having given the name of Jesse Backenstoe of this city, and as a consequence the liveryman took the matter up with Backenstoe, who is with the Ballard-Ford Hardware Company, and learned that he had been deceived.

Tyson, whose real name seems to be that of George Bingman, of New Hope, Brown county, is said to be a former resident of this city, and was up before Chief Kerrigan at one time for using Backenstoe's name for defrauding the people.

Last week Tyson, or Bingman, registered at the Harper Hotel in Greenfield. A short time later Backenstoe registered there, and upon learning of the other fellow's proximity, placed the matter in the hands of Marshal Willis, of Greenfield, who communicated with Mr. Metter, the liveryman at Lancaster, who ordered his arrest.

Tyson was arrested and the Lancaster officials came after him the next day returning to Lancaster with him where he must face the music. He gave Toledo as his home, but upon one occasion registered as being from 292 1-2 S. High St., Columbus.

Tyson has been selling a powder which he claims will render common kerosene non-explosive. His scheme has been to sell to one man in a town, giving him absolute control of that territory, and selling him from a few pounds to a ton.

He is regarded as a smooth rascal, and is said to have been in trouble more than once. At one time it is claimed he worked the feather deal through this part of Ohio many years ago, in which the customer generally received the worst end of the deal.

Accident In Chemical Laboratory

Wednesday morning while James McDonald and Earl Michel were performing an experiment with ammonia hydroxide, an accident occurred which proved quite painful to Mr. McDonald, yet it is believed and hoped that nothing serious will result from it, as the solution was one of only about 5 per cent. in strength.

Mr. Michael had heated the solution and shook it up and smelled of it. Then he held it out to Mr. McDonald to smell of it and as he did so he removed his thumb from the tube and the gas pressure caused some of the contents to spurt out into the face of his partner, Mr. McDonald, who was burned about the face and eyes. Messrs. Kyle, Craig and Rymer came to the assistance of Mr. McDonald at once and after allaying the pain somewhat, Dr. Marchant was called and removed Mr. McDonald to his home. He reports the burn as the result of the hot liquid and that the irritation is due somewhat to the alkali.

Mr. Marshall, Mr. Kyle and Mr. Craig all say that no blame should be attached to the instructor or the school. As the class has been told repeatedly the necessity of handling all chemicals carefully.

PECK'S BAD BOY

Every performer who takes part in "Peck's Bad Boy," as it will be presented at the Empire, Thursday, April 20, is a particularly versatile player. Each person in the cast is absolutely necessary to the working out of the general story-scheme of the play, and in addition, each member of the cast is called upon to contribute some kind of an interpolated specialty. These performers are, for the most part, recruits from the ranks of vaudeville where many of them have been prominent for years.

The specialties contributed during the action of the play are funny and musical. A number of the artists are handsome girls who, dressed in their expensive gowns, make the stage resplendent during the time they are working.

Muzzle The Dogs

All dogs found on the streets from this time on until further notice, without a strong muzzle on will positively be killed without regard to who owns the dog or how much of a pet it is with the owner.

There will absolutely be no deviation from this rule. No excuses will be accepted and those who value their dogs as pets or otherwise will do well to pay strict heed to this, the only warning which will be given.

THE ROAD TO BALTIMORE.

It Was Over Floating Bridges in the Old, Old Days.

The road to Baltimore is over the lowest of three floating bridges which have been thrown across the Schuylkill river in the neighborhood of Philadelphia. The view on passing this river, which is about 250 yards wide, is beautiful. The banks on each side are high and for many miles above afford the most delightful situations of villas. A very elegant one, laid out in English taste, is seen on passing the river just above the bridge. Adjoining to it are public gardens and a house of entertainment with several good rooms, to which the citizens of Philadelphia resort in great numbers during the summer seasons.

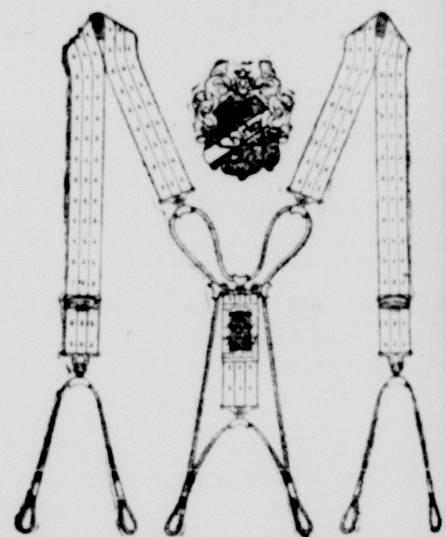

The floating bridges are formed of large trees, which are placed in the water transversely and are chained together. Beams are then laid lengthways upon these and the whole boarded over to render the way convenient for passengers. On each side there is a railing. When very heavy carriages go across these bridges they sink a few inches below the surface of the water, but the passage is by no means dangerous. They are kept in an even direction across the river by means of chains and anchors in different parts and are also strongly secured on both shores. Over that part of the river where the channel lies they are so contrived that a piece can be removed to allow vessels to pass through. From "Travels Through the States of North America," by Isaac Weld, Jr., 1795.

Ohio Happenings

Rope Is Mute Witness.

Mt. Vernon, O., April 19.—The rope which was wound around the neck of Carl Etherington, the dry detective who was lynched in Newark last July, was introduced as evidence in the case of Lewis J. Bolton, charged with murder in the first degree. Examination of witnesses for the state was commenced and about 30 were on the stand during the day, among the number being several police officers from Columbus. Other witnesses were from Newark, who told of Bolton's appearance and actions on the day and night of the lynching.

Insurance Company Wins.

Columbus, O., April 19.—The supreme court decided in favor of the Union Central Life Insurance company in the case brought by the attorney general to prevent the company from distributing by stock issue $400,000 of their surplus funds among the stockholders. The attorney general contended that this belonged to the policyholders and not the stockholders. The company has a surplus of about $1,000,000 and according to this decision it may now proceed to distribute it in the same way it has done in the past.

Clay in Mysterious Manner.

Dayton, O., April 19.—Mystery surrounds the death of George W. Price, a former who dropped dead at the breakfast table of Mrs. Mary Crawford, in this city, a few minutes before he was to have appeared against the woman on an embezzlement charge before the grand jury at Troy. Mr. and Mrs. Crawford state that he choked to death on a piece of meat, but the physician who was summoned declared there was evidence of strangulation by violence.

Conductor Held Up.

Eastoria, O., April 19.—Refusing to turn over his money to a highwayman, J. H. Reeves, conductor of the Toledo, Eastoria & Findlay electric railroad, was shot in the leg by the robber, near the city limits. The robber made his escape.

Drops 13 Stories and Lives.

Cleveland, April 19.—Oscar Naumel, 35, fell from the roof of the new Cleveland Athletic club building, 13 stories, into the basement. He was alive, conscious and talking about the accident when they put him into an ambulance.

Child Slayer Goes to Pen.

Medina, O., April 19.—Plead guilty to manslaughter for choking her week old baby girl to death in the county infirmary on Jan. 20, Mary Sherman, 39, was sentenced to the penitentiary for five years.

INITIATING THE CUB.

Stunts the New Boys in Some Banks Have to Face.

Now, when a tyro goes to work in a machine shop he is sent to the tool room for a left handed monkey wrench. A foundry wag will send the new boy in search of "core holes." A printer's devil is sent to the typefounders with a wheelbarrow for a hair space. Humorists in certain Kansas City banks have a revised code, says the Times of that city.

Here are six things the beginner probably will be required to seek—at drug stores, in stationery shops, even at the county courthouse, where one truthful youth went the other day to inquire diligently for a "speed ball" to assist him in his work:

There is the "speed ball," then, and there is the "check stretcher," presumably used to increase the size of checks that do not conform to the filing cases; the "discount board," supposed to be checked in a manner to facilitate the handling of discounted paper; the "clearing house key," in search for which half a day easily may be consumed; and for the red and black lines that lie artistically on the fair pages what could be more appropriate than "striped ink," and lest the ink becomes too thick should not an "ink strainer" be procured?

Ask the new boy.

Feeling For Death.
For a week the self appointed guide to the blind on their daily walks had noticed that the two men who were her special charges felt carefully of the wall on either side of the door of the asylum when passing in and out. Since she was there to lead them, that precaution seemed not at all necessary, and she finally asked their reason for it.

"I am looking for craps on the door," one old man told her. "They don't like to let us know here in the asylum when any one dies for fear of making us feel bad, but they put craps on the door, and by feeling for it when we pass in and out we can find out for ourselves when one of us has gone."—New York Press.

LIMING THE SOIL

Corrects Acidity and Makes Increased Crop Yields Possible.

BY FIRMEN E. BEAR,
Agricultural Extension Department,
Ohio State University.

Lime is one of the elements necessary in every soil. It must either be there naturally or must be supplied. Soils lacking lime are acid soils. Now is the time for those men whose soils are acid to think about applying lime.

The first thing to be determined is whether or not the soil is acid. Two conditions indicate the lack of lime: first, the inability to grow good crops of clover; and second, the appearance of sorrel in places where the clover has died out. Soils in eastern Ohio are in most cases acid, because they have been derived from the breaking down of sandstone and shale and are naturally low in lime. Western Ohio soils are generally high in lime.

Soils are sour usually because of acids formed in the decay of organic matter. Bacteria bring about this decay, but are unable to develop further in the presence of their own waste products. Lime is effective in neutralizing or destroying these products.

To buy lime most economically one must secure it either in the form of ground limestone or quicklime. We can not afford to buy water. Whether we will buy limestone or quicklime depends on their relative cost when applied. An application of one ton of quicklime gives practically the same results as two tons of limestone. If the distance to haul is far, it is usually more economical to buy the quicklime.

Lime is expensive, consequently we can not afford to use it in excessive quantities. Enough to destroy the acid present is all that is necessary. Little is gained by applying an excess. A ton of quicklime or two tons of limestone per acre is a fair amount.

After the soil has been plowed, the lime should be applied on the surface so as to be well worked into the soil in the cultivation which follows. A spreader, fertilizer drill, or a shovel may be used to advantage. If quicklime is to be spread with a shovel it should be put in small piles and allowed to alkali before scattering.

FEEDING YOUNG STOCK.

One of the most serious faults to be found with many stockmen is the underfeeding of young stock. Often men who feed to the limit, maturing cattle, hogs or horses, will let their young stock get along as best they can for a few months, even though they get "stunted," a condition from which they never fully recover. It is argued that feed fed to young stock does not give returns. However, there is little doubt but that feed containing plenty of bone and muscle builder is used to better advantage by the young animal than by the animal during any other period of the feeding process.

Since nature provides all of our domesticated animals with a good appetite for milk, the dam should be fed plenty of good clover or alfalfa hay, together with some green feed, such as silage or beets, and this supplemented with a grain ration of bran, oil meal or cottonseed meal, and a little corn. Oats are also good, but in many places are too high in price to be fed with profit. Ponds of this nature stimulate the milk flow and besides keeping the dam well nourished, furnish enough food for the young until they are old enough to eat clover hay, bran, or crushed oats. Lambs soon learn to use a "creep" provided for them, and if bran and oats are kept there, they easily balance their own ration and form the habit of going to the rack for their feed.

Calves and colts soon learn to nibble hay and also to go to a box where bran, oats and oilmeal are kept. Especially is this true if they are kept near the older animals. Not only do the nutrients in the feed do them good, but the hay helps to distend the digestive tract and develop the middle, thus preparing the way for a good feeder.

Corn should form but a small part of the ration for young animals, for the reason that it is very low in protein and ash, two of the essential muscle and bone builders. Pigs often get nothing but corn and poor pasture and as a result make slow gains at a high cost, and often "go down" on their pasterns. Tankage, middlings, skim milk, and clover pasture make good supplementary feeds for pigs.

We should always keep in mind the fact that the cheapest and quickest gains are made with young animals, and that if we are to get the most out of our stock when mature, they must be well fed from birth; also that poor development resulting from underfeeding continued for several generations will gain a cumulative effect strong enough to destroy the merits of the best blood lines.

GEO. F. STORY,
Agricultural Extension Department,
Ohio State University.

LIFE BUOY AND OAR.

Putting on the One and Supporting Yourself With the Other.

Very few persons know how to get into a life buoy, and, as in this uncertain world one never knows when one may need to make use of a buoy in real earnest, a little practice might prove of great value in an emergency.

Now, when the buoy is thrown into the water the temptation is to try to lift it over one's head and shoulders or to dive through it. This, however, is impossible. The correct thing is to grasp the two sides of the buoy with fingers of the hands uppermost, lower yourself under the buoy and come up through the center, then rest your arms upon the sides, and you will be comfortably supported as long as it is necessary.

More often than otherwise, in case of accident, a life buoy is not at hand. In such an event an oar may be used as a substitute. Now, there is some little art in saving oneself by this means, for an average sized oar is not buoyant enough to support a person if grasped as the first impulse would direct.

There is only one way in which the oar will support a human being. It must be ridden like a hobbyhorse. The haft is put between the legs and the blade allowed to project above the surface of the water in front of one. By this means the head is kept well above the water.—Pearson's Magazine

For Catarrh

Medicine Free in Every Case
Where It Fails to Relieve.

Neglect or pessimism, we believe, is the greatest enemy the public has to contend with when applied to the loss or recovery of health. Practically every case of consumption might have been cured if hope had been maintained and proper treatment had been resorted to at the first symptom of the disease. Until the advance stage is reached, consumption is curable. Catarrh is responsible, we believe, for many cases of consumption. It is about catarrh we want to talk to you today, incidentally consumption, since the two are so closely allied.

We have a medicine made from a prescription of one of the most successful catarrh specialists known. We believe it is positively without an equal. We are so satisfied that we are right, that we will supply the medicine free in every instance where it is used according to directions for a reasonable length of time, should it fail to give satisfaction in every particular. We want every one to try this medicine at our risk. There are no conditions attached to our offer. We put the user under no obligations to us whatever.

The medicine we want you to try is Rekall Mucu-Tone. It is a catarrh remedy that goes direct to the seat of trouble. It is carried by the blood to every part of the system. It purifies and enriches the blood, tones up the mucous cells, and brings about a condition of health and strength that tends to prevent the germs of consumption from getting a start. Besides this, Rekall Mucu-Tone is a wonderful appetizer, digestive aid and flesh builder. Its good effects are often felt from the very first dose. It is one of the largest and most satisfactory selling medicines that we have ever had anything to do with.

We know so much of the great good that it has done that we personally back it up with our reputation and money, which fact should be ample guarantee to satisfy anybody. Rekall Mucu-Tone comes in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. We urge you to try it. Remember you can obtain Rekall Remedies in Washington C. H. only at our store.—The Rekall Store, The Blackmer and Tanquary Drug Co.

THE WORLD

OF WOMEN

KING'S CORONATION ROBE.

May Come From the Home of a Beautiful American Woman.

An interesting coronation rumor is that the king's coronation robe is likely to come from the home of an American girl. Recently King George expressed a desire to wear the mantle of George IV. Now, it happens that the king's robe and much coronation paraphernalia are the perquisites of the lord great chamberlain. An Earl of An-cester was lord great chamberlain at the coronation of King George IV, and his coronation robes hang in the chapel of Grimsthorpe castle, at Bourne, in Lincolnshire, one of the county seats of the Ancesters. The Countess of Ancester, formerly Miss Elaine Broese of New York, heard of the king's wish. Promptly she had her husband offer his majesty the use of the robe, requesting that it should be returned to them after the coronation, for there are three claimants to the office of lord great chamberlain, and otherwise the robe might not return to the Ancesters. Miss Broese is a daughter of the late W. L. Broese of New York and is a relative of the well known artist of that name. Her mother married a second time and is Mrs. Harry Higgins, wealthy and a social leader in London. Before her marriage the countess was a member of the clique that included Princess Patricia of Connaught, Miss Jean Reid, now the Hon. Mrs. Ward, and several smart American girls the Connaughts being not ably partial to Americans. Her marriage to the then Lord Willoughby de Eresby was a reversal of the usual order of things, for she was not a great heiress, while he was heir to one of the oldest and richest estates in England. Many persons believed that his father, who was notable for his public spirit and charities, would be created Duke of Ancester, a title that lapsed in the family.

COUNTRESS OF ANCESTER.

Harmless Powders.

A really good powder for persons suffering from a constantly greasy complexion is not only harmless, but is an absolute necessity. Powder, however, must be applied with judgment and care and should only be lightly dusted on and never rubbed in.

Try mixing three ounces of wheat starch with one ounce of powdered orris root, adding a drop or two of oil of bergamot to scent it. The powder must be repeatedly sifted through a very fine sieve.

Cleaning White Hair.

White hair should be treated very carefully, as it is always brittle and breaks easily. The whites of two or three eggs well beaten with one ounce of cold water to each egg makes a very fine shampoo for white hair. Rub it well into the scalp and hair, rinse with tepid water and a very little bluing in the last rinse water will make yellow white hair a prettier color. Use no heat in drying and never curl with hot irons.

Emotion Cuts Wrinkles.

Strong emotions, either of joy or grief, leave their traces on the face. Anger and tears soon trace deep furrows on the brows and leave the eyes sunken and dull. Try to look on the bright side and hope for better things. Massage will improve your looks, provided you do not undo all the good work with daily tears. Work and outdoor exercise will be of the greatest benefit. Try them.

Softening the Knuckles.

Knuckles which have been exposed to dirt and grime are most unsightly. Soap and water are not sufficient to clean them. First apply a little olive oil or a cleaning cream, rubbing well into the skin. Remove moisture and scrub knuckles, using a brush, warm water and soap.

FLORAL BEAUTY FOR HATS

A Wealth of Exquisite Blossoms For the New Headgear.

FLOWER TRIMMED HAT.

Flower decorated hats are the rule this season, and the flowers are applied with such abundance that the cost of the hats is far from being as encouraging as it should be. For instance, the elegant white chip hat shown here is adorned with roses that so successfully imitate the natural flowers that they might well be mistaken for the roses are of pink tulle, gives them their peculiarly airy appearance.

There is something very new this season about the new hats, partly, no doubt, because the shapes show so much variety, partly also because the colorings are most in vogue are of the day and most delightful description.

Various small blossoms, closely together, will be employed to cover entirely the high crowned narrow brimmed toques and which seem likely to take the place of the extinguishers of last season, violets in their own beautiful coloring are being used for these toques, intermingled with the flowers dyed in a vivid shade of son.

The violet and crimson blossoms grouped together so that they are both crown and brim, while on one side there is frequently a string of flowers.

Mary's Chibblains.

"My chibblains hurt me though spring."

Said Mary to her cat.

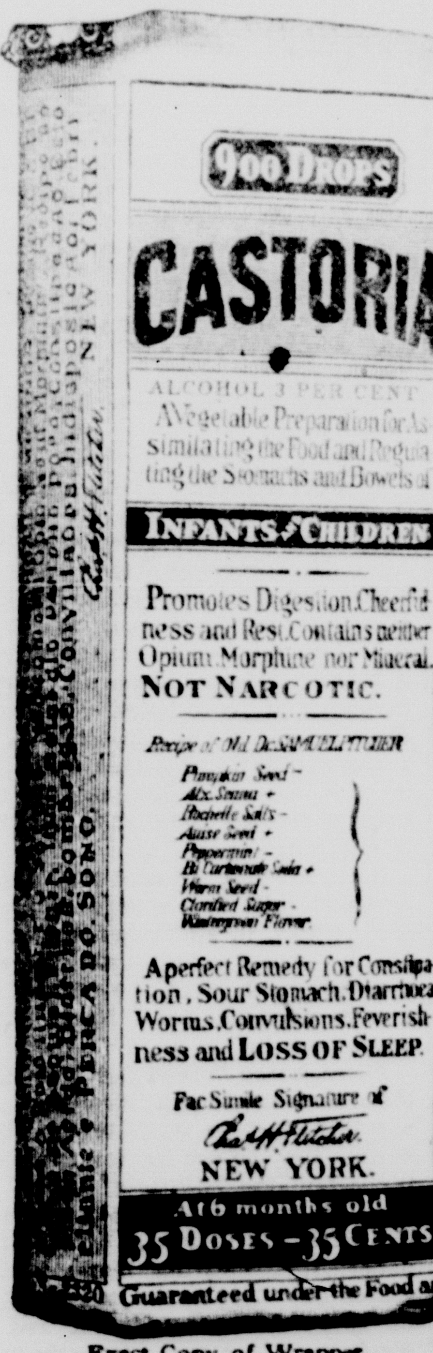

"Don't cry, my dear," Bob answered.

"I know a cure for that."

"You just look up your skipping rope and use it well each day."

And in a week, you mark my words, you'll find they've gone away."

So Mary skipped with Bob's cat. Before a single week had gone, her chibblains all were well.
